

Tunnell Consulting Announces Appointment of Jonathan Horn as Principal

Horn's industry expertise, insights into the life sciences industry, and experience as a consulting partner and senior executive adds to Tunnell's value in delivering sustainable solutions and strong performance to life sciences companies and federal agencies

KING OF PRUSSIA, PA February 11, 2020: Tunnell Consulting, an organization dedicated to solving complex problems for life sciences companies and government agencies, announced the recent appointment of Jonathan Horn as Principal. Horn brings over 30 years of management consulting expertise to Tunnell, with significant experience assessing, designing, and managing enterprise transformation initiatives, especially to help establish and grow emerging companies.

Horn has significant experience in multiple healthcare sectors, including life sciences and federal health. He has published and been quoted in multiple periodicals, and has been a speaker at industry, vendor, and user group conferences and webinars. In 2004 Horn completed LEADERSHIP Philadelphia's Core Program, which mobilizes private, public sector, and non-profit leaders to enhance their civic knowledge and awareness, enrich leadership skills, and gain non-profit board training and placement. He has since served on the Board of Directors (past Co-Chair) of The Enterprise Center in Philadelphia, whose mission is to cultivate and invest in minority entrepreneurs to inspire working together for economic growth in communities. Horn is also passionate about staff mentoring and people development.

"Jonathan's background, insights and mentorship experience will prove valuable both to our clients and to our growing staff," said Maryann Gallivan, CEO of Tunnell Consulting. "At Tunnell, mentoring and development of our people has always been a high priority, and we welcome his expert guidance in our constant move towards continuous improvement. In addition, his success in leading transformative initiatives will bring value to our clients who turn to us for expert guidance across the life sciences industry."

"I am very pleased to begin my new role at Tunnell," said Horn. "As Principal, I look forward to creating, designing, and executing transformative projects for our life sciences clients, and also taking on a role at Tunnell as a mentor. I especially appreciate Tunnell's approach to consultancy, which relies on a deep level of skill, driven by subject matter experts and thought leaders with insights into the industry's most pressing challenges."

Prior to joining Tunnell, Horn served as a Partner at Infosys Consulting, and a Partner/Principal at Deloitte Consulting. He has held numerous client-facing and internal leadership roles, and his client service activities have included: assessing the capabilities needed to grow emerging companies; performing the project/program ROI / business case analyses, project/program evaluation and design, and complex project/program management required to institute those capabilities; enterprise and technology transformation; and operations improvement.
